

CHINA

IMPRESINDIBLE

A long, straight line of terracotta warrior statues, known as the Terracotta Army, is displayed in a museum. The statues are arranged in a long, straight line, receding into the distance. They are made of terracotta and are dressed in traditional Chinese armor and clothing. The background shows the museum's architecture, including stone walls and a tiled floor. The lighting is warm and focused on the statues.

Pekín, Xian y Shanghai