

LAOS, VIETNAM y CAMBOYA

A high-angle photograph of a traditional East Asian temple complex, likely a Buddhist monastery, built on a mountain peak. The main structure features multiple levels of dark, tiled roofs with ornate, upturned eaves. A prominent golden pagoda with multiple tiers stands on the right side of the complex. The temple is surrounded by stone railings and walkways. In the background, misty mountains and a blue sky are visible, suggesting a high-altitude or coastal setting.

Luang Prabang, Hanoi, Bahía de
Halong, Danang, Hoian, Hue. Delta del
Mekong, Ho Chi Minh y Siem Reap